Of course it appears Mitty O'BumKnee won the debate and the O'Bummer crowd left the auditorium heavily sedated with letdown trama; but most people and citizens and houshold pets failed to realize the extra show after show post-debate going on with my boy Scarby's father's uncle-in-law's grandson's friend who is the well known news anchorman who goes by the name of Idleson Abnaster Scarbald theThird-but most folks just call him Harold!

The Scarbald News anchor who held the post-debate was neither associated with either party; but was a loan arranger with a savings and loan company by the name of Kascade Willy's Loan Arranger Agency!

Here is a few of the questions which were asked to our two Residential Canadians who were in no way running for the White House but were trying to raise funds for the local Steakhouse by the name of Jeremiah's Smokestack Of Flaming Ribs-O'Plenty:

Scarbald: Welcome both of you to the small town of Snapsnucker, Iowa

The first question is to Mr. O'Bummer! Do you think you would ever declare war on China if the United States failed to pay all it's parking tickets in New York City?!!

O'Bummer: Now see here! China does not have that much power over the pocketpurses of the American taxpayer-just the other day I had lunch with a China busnissman and he assured me that we still had three years left before Wall Street would then be called "The Great Wall Street of China"-so we still have some time to be flexible after I get four more years!

Scarbald: Now Mr. Mitty O'Bumknee! Could you tell the American people what actually was the outcome of that story of you taking a trip to Ancourage, Alaska with your dog Beaumont bungie-corded to the roof top of your car?

Mitty O'Bumknee: O you mean that incident that happened years ago before I ever thought of running for campaign manager of this small business in Greenslick, Vermont know to the locals as Beer Lick Cantata!!

Well you see! The Family and myself had to make time before that freak snowstorm up north closed all the roads; which would secure our passports into Canada; and to save time we had to brush our teeth and wax the car and run errands and throw darts with the boys in my garage and make sure our cat Smith Wigglesworthless was in the pet motel by late morning!

So we all piled into the car and just before we started to head down the drive-way the wife turned to me and said—aren't you forgetting something?

Then all of a sudden it dawned on me—I had left my wallet on the Kitchen dinning table!

Then after going back into the house I smelled this odor coming from the bathroom; it was Beaumont our dog and he was so anxious about not hearing anyone home that he lost all control of his functions except breathing!!

So after a quick clean up of his rump area I grabed his leech and without finding any room in the car to put him at— I was in a pickle at where he could ride!

The boys were all in the back seats and the suitcases were in the back cargo area behind the boys and the only place where it looked like I could put him was on top the car in his large plastic dog carrier!!!

Call me Hitler or a modern day Mussolinni—but we had a deadline to meet and the traffic was soon going to be bumper to bumper—if it redeems my actions any—I threw in his favorite squeek toy –Buster Bumkins and pointed his carrier away from the wind!!

Scarbald: It appears I need to wake up Mr. Obummer who almost had time to catch some sleep on your dreadfully long answer!!

Scarbald: Now for the final question of this evening which will be asked of both of you potential Residential Canadians and it is this—Do you think this country will ever see a law pasted that will put an end to downloading music for free?!!

O'Bummer: I have no problem letting folks who enjoy the sounds of their most favorite banjo picking blues band or hearing a blue grass rapper singer —for free! What I can't stand is a guy like my opponent getting up and taking a microphone and singing Old McDonald had a farm to 6th grade Chicago students!

Mltty O'BumKnee: This is one time only where I agree with my opponite here on stage—except the part about my favorite song as a youth growing up—which reminds me of what it was like when I was living on the farm with my dad Archabald McFarklin O'BumKnee; and we had both cows and pigs that sometimes did go mooo! moo! and oink! oink!—>

as the Old McDonald song so amazing demonstrates with those original sound effects which were put in there from the original tune recording—to this day I have no idea how they replicated those animal sounds on that song that I heard in the 50's—you could very well say that song was way ahead of its time!!!

Scarbald: Again I have to wake up the other contender from a sound sleep as a result of your long winded answer Mr. ObumKnee! Good for all of us this debate has finally come to an end!

Could both of you quickly say something positive about the other person to let the folks watching across the United States know that you completely made it up?!

O'Bummer: Well I guess if I were to say something positive about my opponent Mr. Mitty ObumKnee it would be —your a nice gentleman afterall—but that is no way to treat a dog!!!

Mitty O'Bumknee: Well I guess if you want to be friends about it, then how about you and I start a business and I will be supervisor and you can greet those at the door with the line—Welcome To The Great WallMart Of China—Have A Good Day—->

OK I will let you be manager and I will be the door greeter!!!!
